

4G

Mobile Internet

SERVICE SUMMARY

Mobile internet is often a great temporary solution for any business that needs immediate internet access to email and other fundamental systems whilst waiting for fixed line internet to be installed. Modern Networks next-day solution provides fast, reliable, secure 4G wireless and internet with fixed data allowances. Mobile internet also acts as a great backup internet service for when a primary fixed internet service experiences an outage.

KEY BENEFITS

- Secure, fast and reliable internet connection
- Rapid access to essential business services
- Cost-effective internet backup solution
- Short terms of service available.

VALUE STATEMENT

The provision of fixed internet services can often take a significant amount of time and be subject to unexpected timeline changes. Given how key internet services are to businesses, many office locations are often unable to function without them. Mobile internet services can play a key part in bringing temporary internet services to offices which are waiting for fixed internet services or experiencing an unexpected failure to those services. With mobile internet, office spaces can remain functional during an outage, minimising the impact to your business.

- Rapid connection of office internet service
- Reduce the business risk of a loss of internet services
- Easy to deploy – plug and play service
- Cost effective with flexible plans.
